Dear Parishioners,

Did June happen? I must have missed it. Can you believe how quickly time passes? When one is young, one longs for things in a future that never seems to arrive. When one is in middle age, he forgets future longings because he's too busy dealing with things in the present. When one approaches or reaches the autumn of his life, he seems to look back to that childhood time and longs for the things of his past, particularly the past time itself. Such musings should be useful tools for us; reminders to get our lives together, rearrange our priorities, if necessary, and to prepare ourselves for whatever inevitability awaits us around this corner or that. Vigilate itaque, quia nescitis diem, neque horam; Watch, therefore, for you know neither the day nor the hour.

We have now entered the month of July, the month dedicated to the Most Precious Blood. Though there are no major, first-class feasts in this month, there are several martyrs whom we should all know and whose feasts we should anticipate with great delight: Ss. Cyril and Methodius, the Apostles of Bohemia and the countries of Eastern Europe, St. Bonaventure, the Seraphic Doctor, St. Vincent de Paul, St. Mary Magdalene, the Apostle, St. James the Greater, St. Ann, Mother of Our Lady and Grandmother of Our Lord, and finally, St. Martha. Not a bad line-up, that.

We celebrate our nation's independence this coming Tuesday, 4 July. Holy Mass that day will be at 9:00 AM. Providentially, every 4th of July is a simple, "feria" of the fourth class. Thus, any appropriate Votive Mass can be celebrated that day. There are various Votive Masses scheduled for weekdays. On a ferial Tuesday, it would be normal to celebrate the Mass of the Angels. However, on this special day, the Church has, for quite some time now, urged her priests to celebrate the Votive Mass for Peace on the 4th of July. Holy Mother Church is, in Her typical way, a very wise Mother. With so much violence, terrorism, bloodshed, in the world, affecting so many souls, from the innocent in the womb to our massacred Christian brothers and sisters in those unhappy lands oppressed by fiends who wield the "star and crescent" our sad world certainly does need peace. However, until the world knows that there is only one Source of Peace, the Peace of Christ, championed by his Sacred Bride, the Roman Catholic Church, I fear true peace will be a very long time coming.

Years ago, Hal David and Burt Bacharach collaborated on "What the World Needs Now, Is Love, Sweet Love." No, my friends, it's Christ, Sweet Christ.
